

PROF. F. D. BOWER LECTURES BEFORE HUGE ASSEMBLY

On "Mechanical Problems of Plant Life"
NOTED AUTHORITY
Large Attendance in Biological Bldg. To Greet Famous Botanist

A crowded auditorium and the attendance of three societies was amply repaid by the appearance of Prof. F. D. Bower at the Biological Building yesterday evening, when the Glasgow professor delivered an authoritative account of the "Mechanical Problems of Plant Life" before a joint meeting of the Biological Physical, and Sigma Xi Societies.

Prof. Lloyd occupied the chair and in a few well chosen words introduced Dr. Bower to the audience. Dr. Lloyd recalled how he had once had the pleasure of entertaining Prof. Bower at St. Louis, and stated that he had never dreamed of being so highly honoured as to be able to present the famous professor before a scientific body. He remarked that Dr. Bower had not only a wonderful personality but a marvellous weight into scientific matters; and that the professor was an authority of outstanding importance.

Then Dr. Bower took the floor. He acknowledged the kind remarks of the Chairman and went on to state that he intended to deal with the engineering problems in plant life. The essential difference between plant and animal life is that the plant is static while the animal is dynamic. The office of the plant is not to move, but to resist the natural demands made upon it by many forms of stresses and pressures, and to remain more or less fixed in its environment. It is not necessary that it be absolutely fixed; such a thing would be just as harmful; the main thing is that they must yield to ordinary natural pressures and recover their natural positions when the pressures are released. The force of gravity, the pressure of winds, and the stress of moving waters, demand that the organism yield, and that they recover when any of these influences are removed. This idea of yielding and recovery is the key-note in the structure of plant mechanism.

The earliest plants were animal-like, they possessed active mobility. Fixation of plants to soil was gradually evolved from the simple attempt at encystment by the mobile unicellular organisms. The previous conditions demanded a freely mobile unprotected protoplasm, but now this was enclosed in a harder tougher shell-like case, which allowed the organism to rest. But by encystment the "plant" gives up one characteristic of its brightness, it gives up movement; and in return for protection the idea of mobility. We see then that early in its evolution the plants by encystment are already practising the static state.

A great quality in the mechanical problem of plants is the cell turgor. The fluid contents of the cell keeps the cell stretched very much like a football or a pneumatic tire, thus giving the cell its firmness. Within the cell protoplasm, the different protoplasmic constituents can, of course, still go about their duties.

Plants enlarge, broadly speaking, by the aggregate enlarging of their several cells. But it must be understood that such enlargement has mechanical limits. Cell turgidity has a great deal to do with cell, and therefore plant, growth. But the condition and nature of the cell wall has a great deal to do with it, too. In Ceylon, single cells were quoted as growing in shallow water on a coral floor to the length of six or seven inches. Here two cells grow so because they are thin-walled and are buoyed up by water. Contrasted with such growth we have the cells of thick-walled organisms growing in air, such as the firm thick-walled bamboo trees.

Why should plants not go on growing? What limit their growth? Dr. Bower stated briefly that the weight of organism increases as the cube, whereas the height of the plant increases as the square. The weight therefore increases comparatively more than the height and the growth of the organism is limited by gravity.

Plants grow comparatively more than animals. This is because animals have a limited closed chapter; an inherent plan orders so many things, etc. and then these grow to certain dimensions, and the development is attained. Plants, however, have an unlimited embryology; they have the potentiality of unlimited development.

TICKETS FOR PROM ON SALE BY NEXT WEEK

Gross's Orchestra to Supply Music for Dance
RUSH EXPECTED
Programme Competition to Close at 2.00 p.m. on Tuesday

Gross's orchestra will perform at the Junior Prom this year. This was decided at the committee meeting last night, held in the R. V. C. with James V. Russell in the chair. After considering carefully the bidders submitted Gross's was fixed upon. This is a well known band around college, and has fulfilled many major engagements at McGill satisfactorily so these attending the prom or dance of the season will have the best modern red hot music.

The tickets have been printed and are arranged for two supper sittings. They will be issued to the faculty representatives on Tuesday night and will be on sale Wednesday morning. A bit of advice to anyone who wants to attend, would be to be on hand first thing on Wednesday as the limited supply of tickets are bound to be rushed for and there will probably be many disappointments among the Juniors at missing this date.

The competition for design of program and the favors etc. are also being arranged. The Daily reporter again tried his best to ferret out some idea of the system of decoration but the committee gave him no chance. After the meeting however he grabbed one of those in charge and by dint of much persuasion and perhaps a little bribing managed to find out that an entirely original idea is to be put into execution this year. The system will be very attractive and together with the arrangements for sitting out will probably eclipse anything heretofore attempted.

Invitations are being sent to the principal men among the staff and the list of patronesses and chaperons will be published soon. The dance is to start at 8.30 and the time of ending would be unwise to predict.

The competition for design of program is coming along fast and many of the students are working hard to gain the much coveted ticket to the Prom. The designers may have a program in two colours, printed on a white background and may use such colours or tints as seem best to them. The competition will end on Tuesday at 2.00 p.m. by which time all the efforts must be in the hands of the committee. The winner will be announced the following day.

The committee have made their motto "A bigger, brighter and better Prom" and if this proceeds as they are, the motto will become a reality.

SOCCER MEN TO PLAY THANKSGIVING DAY

A Thanksgiving Day soccer match has been arranged with the R.C.M. Police of Ottawa, and the following players are requested to be on hand at the campus on Monday at 2.15 p.m.: Amaron, Giovando, Moffat, Rinfret, Shippam, Sparks, Helwig, Denny, Gavin, Estall, Kelland, Archdale, Scott, Capt. Stephenson, Mr. Henderson will referee the game.

The intercollegiate series takes place in Toronto Nov. 13th and 14th, between R.M.C., Varsity and McGill. It is yet uncertain which team draws the bye, but the draw will be made by Mr. McDonald of Queen's and will be out in a day or so.

Reports from Toronto indicate that the Blue and White are stronger than ever and expect to recover the intercollegiate title.

Mechanical strength in plants is brought about chiefly in three ways: Cell turgor, tension of tissues and specific mechanical tissues. The first one has been dealt with. The cell wall is stretched tightly by intra cellular tension; when turgor is reduced the cells shrink and the general form of the plant droops. In the idea of tissue tension we have the mutual resistance offered by plant tissues. Placed tissue here and there in the plant counteract the swollen tissues but the ultimate form of the plant is the result of such a mutual reaction. Finally these are specific mechanical tissues which by their special firmness are really plant skeletons or supporting tissue. Slides were shown pointing out the action of collenchyma, a gummy tissue which allows increase in length of the plant without sacrificing its mobility. It

R.V.C. '27 RECEIVE BIOGRAPHY FORMS

Business of Annual Meeting Discussed at Class Meeting

The distribution of biography forms constituted the chief business of the R. V. C. '27 class meeting, held yesterday in the Royal Victoria College.

The president drew the attention of the class to the photographs which are to be taken in the near future at Notman's and everyone was reminded to watch Daily notices to that effect from now on.

It was reported that Miss Mayle MacSparran had resigned her position as Class Historian for the 1927 Annual and all were requested to be ready with their nominations of someone to replace her at the next meeting.

In conclusion, the president stressed the importance of a large turnout to the coming meeting of the M. W. S. A. A. and hoped that the class would make an effort to help in making up the quorum which is required in amending the Constitution.

HARRIER MEET TO BE RUN OFF HERE TODAY

First Time at McGill Since 1922
OVER 20 ENTRIES
4 Teams Entered Including Varsity, Queen's, R.M.C.

For the first time since 1922, the Canadian Intercollegiate Harrier Meet will be held at McGill this morning at eleven o'clock. Teams from Toronto, Queen's and the Royal Military College will compete with the McGill representatives for the championship now held by the cadets from Kingston. In all there will be slightly over twenty runners in the race around the mountain today.

The R. M. C. team arrived in town late Thursday night and spent yesterday in familiarizing themselves with the course. The Queen's men came in last night on the five o'clock train and will go over the run early this morning. The movements of the Toronto group have been uncertain.

The McGill representatives that will attempt to win the title today are Goforth, three times winner of the Harrier individual title Rubin, who led in the interfaculty race last week, and who specializes in the mile on the track team. Creighton, a Harrier once under the colours of the R. M. C., but now at McGill, Brodie, the three mile, and Captain Airey, star in the half and quarter some two weeks ago.

The Queen's runners are Tranouth, Moore, Cave, Revell, and Tweedie with Manager Collins in charge of arrangements, while the R. M. C. team composed of B. P. Francis, P. C. Fair, B. M. Archibald, R. G. C. Smith and W. P. LeBoutillier. As the Toronto team could not be located last night, the line up of the Blue and White is unknown, but it is probable that Graham and the two Mitchell brothers form the nucleus of a strong contingent.

The race will start shortly after eleven from the Stadium and will follow the usual McGill course of five and a half miles. After the race, the annual meeting of the C. I. H. U. will take place in the music room in the Union, and about one luncheon will be served to the competitors. Tickets for the Toronto McGill football struggle have been reserved for visitors for the afternoon.

The following men are requested to report as markers to Shel Coleman in the Stadium before eleven this morning: Hurd, Gray, Donald, Scott, Thompson, Brain, Paterson, Moore, Spratt, Shearwood, Reed and any others that have been asked to act as markers. These men must be in position by eleven. They will all wear McGill sweaters.

FOXED

The bedroom was dark—pitch dark—and to his horrified ears came two different sounds from the bed of his sleeping wife. One high, like his wife's voice, the other lower, perhaps that of a man. Quietly opening the door of the room he crept in to surprise his wife's nocturnal visitor. Snapping on the light, he saw only the sleeping form of his wife—soporant on the inhalation, gasping on the exhalation.

F. A. COCKIN TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK

Is One of Secretaries of British Student Movement
NOW AT TORONTO

To Speak at Several Meetings of Local Association

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Cockin, formerly of the British Student Movement and now connected with the B. C. M. at Toronto will be the guests of the McGill B. C. M. next week from Wednesday until Friday. The visit of Mr. and Mrs. Cockin has been looked forward to for some time and already several groups have made arrangements to have them at their meetings.

On Wednesday night a supper for undergraduates will be held at Strathcona Hall at which Mr. and Mrs. Cockin will be present. Later on in the evening at a special S. C. A. meeting of the Theological Undergraduates Mr. Cockin will be the speaker. Another guest at that same meeting will be Rev. Elton Scott, formerly Study Secretary of the Oxford University S. C. M. and now assistant at the Church of St. John the Evangelist in Montreal.

On Thursday, Mr. Cockin will be the guest at a graduate supper, also in Strathcona Hall, where an attempt will be made to weld recent graduates from McGill and those from other universities who are resident in Montreal into a graduate movement. The need of a strong graduate movement has been felt for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Cockin have both been for a number of years intimately connected with the British Student Christian Movement. Mr. Cockin holding the position of Study Secretary for Great Britain. At present they are working with the S. C. M. in Toronto, where it is expected they will be until January. Already Mr. Cockin's energy and personality have accomplished great things among the men at Varsity, while Mrs. Cockin has been no less successful with the women. Their visit to McGill is keenly anticipated.

ENGLISH RUGGER ON CAMPUS TODAY AT 11

At 11 a.m. today the McGill English Rugger fifteen will meet their old intercollegiate rivals on the Campus in the first game of the home and home series for the cup.

The McGill team has had to adopt a rather altered formation owing to the loss of captain Roome through sickness and of two other members of the pack for academic reasons. The backfield remains much the same as in the past three matches except that McInerney will play fullback vice Graeme who will be on the right wing of the three quarter line.

The team has shown very good form this year in the McGill cup series which now stands equal with the cup-holders, the Montreal English in possessing of two points by defeating the Sun Life team.

While making no prophecies the Red and White hope to avenge the narrow defeat they sustained from Varsity last year and to regain the Intercollegiate Cup.

The team will line up as follows: Fullback—McInerney. Three-quarters—Graeme, Playfair, Evans, Patterson.

Halves—Scott-Moncrief and Howell.

Forwards—Hare, Starkey, West, Connell, Campbell, Brown, Knowles, R. E. Brown and McInerney.

WRESTLING BECOMING MORE POPULAR DAILY

That wrestling is becoming more and more popular was evident at yesterday's wrestling practice. The wrestling Club has now a membership of seventy-five and at each practice new men are turning out. This augurs well for a good wrestling team as their will be plenty of material to choose from. Heavy men however are badly needed and places on the team are open for some of the weightier men. Men of the lighter weight are also in demand.

Coch Smith is trying out a new method of teaching his proteges the art of wrestling. Instead of the demonstration method he is using the oral method. He finds that this works satisfactorily and that the men are catching on to the holds more quickly. Several of last year's team have already been turning out and others

$10 PRIZE GIVEN FOR SNAPSHOTS

Junior and Year Group Photos to be Taken Shortly

A prize of $10 will be given by the annual for the best collection of snapshots of six or more and dealing with University activities. The annual reserves the right to use any photograph submitted. Students are therefore invited to enter their collections. Today's football game the Annual Board thinks ought to give good opportunities to photographers.

It was stated that this year's annual will be an improvement over its predecessor. There will probably be more pages than last year and it is intended to have several pages of special paper and art work at the beginning of the book.

It was also announced that the Juniors would have their photographs taken within the next two weeks. Further information in this regard will appear very shortly in the notice column of the Daily. In addition, the Photograph Editor is drawing up a schedule for the taking of the various year groups. This schedule will be published in a few days.

McGILL SPIRIT IS STRONG IN WESTERN CITIES

Enthusiastic Reception Given to Principal RETURNED

Sir Arthur Currie is Back After Month's Tour of Canada

That McGill graduates all over Canada are keeping up their interest in and love for their Alma Mater, was pointed out by Sir Arthur upon his return home yesterday morning from a tour of the Dominion. The societies at all the centres gave him a hearty reception and large numbers turned out to all the meetings given in honour of the Principal. Sir Arthur Currie also spoke to various Military Institutes in the western cities, his talks in these meetings usually being reminiscent of his tour to the battlefields of Europe, made last summer. The Principal delivered twenty-three addresses during his twenty-eight day absence. His Principal public appearance was at the University of British Columbia, where he was the chief speaker at the opening ceremonies of the new buildings, and where he received the honorary degree of LL.D.

He spoke to the Canadian Clubs at Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and London, and the enthusiasm which he found in these societies seemed to discourage the pessimistic view that the West wished to secede from the East and join the States.

The military institutes, at Vancouver, Victoria and Calgary held special meetings which were addressed by Sir Arthur Currie.

The students of Victoria College, Alberta University, Saskatoon and Regina Normal Schools, University of Saskatchewan and University of Manitoba also heard Sir Arthur. Among the graduate societies which were honoured with addresses from the Principal were those of Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Chicago and London.

After visiting his home at Strathroy, Ontario, Sir Arthur arrived back in Montreal yesterday morning.

COACH SHOWS BOXERS EFFECTIVE ATTACK

One more attack was demonstrated by Coach Bert Light last night at Boxing in Molson Hall. This is a blow delivered with the right hand to the jaw. It is called the right cross and because the right shoulder moves considerably in the delivery, it is very effective. The work out was a large one and the first four attacks—the straight left, the right to the body and the left hook to the jaw and body were reviewed this for the benefit of newcomers. Defensive tactics, blocking ducking and slipping are constantly being practiced. Coach Light states that instruction in side stepping and footwork will be given as soon as the present material has been a bit assimilated. More advanced men work late getting down fine points. are expected each practice. The coach made a special request for Silver and Bryant to turn out.

ART UNDERGRADUATE SOCIETY VOTES FIFTY DOLLARS FOR THE NEW LITERARY JOURNAL

Only One Dissenting Vote—Strongly in Favour of Literary Paper—Large Crowd Present—Arts '28 and '27 Issue Debating Challenges.

The Arts Undergraduate Society at their meeting yesterday afternoon made a grant of fifty dollars to the editorial board of the McGill Fortnightly Review. Had it not been for one dissenting vote the motion proposing this grant would have been unanimously carried. The meeting strongly endorsed the action of the few students who are fostering this literary venture and highly commended them.

"I move that the Arts Undergraduate Society make a grant of fifty dollars to the editorial board of the McGill Fortnightly Review to help them in editing a literary paper." The above motion was made by Allan Macnaughton at the Arts Undergraduate Society meeting yesterday afternoon. Macnaughton in making the motion pointed out that the Arts faculty should be the faculty in taking the initiative in such a matter and that the Arts faculty more than any other should sponsor a literary effort on the part of the students. Frank Godine seconded the motion. In doing so he said that he was not acting contrary to the wishes of the Students' Council. They on the contrary were in favour of the project, and their only reason for doing away with the supplement was a financial one. He stated that Arts men comprised the majority on the news board and that last year's supplement depended a great deal on contributions from students in the Arts faculty. Godine also expressed his hope that the other Undergraduate Societies would follow the step taken by the Arts Undergraduates and contribute a sum of money to the new literary venture. When the vote was taken on the motion it was found that there was only one dissenting vote.

The rest of the meeting consisted in a discussion on the interfaculty debating and of granting a sum of money to the Arts Rugby team. Fred Scott, the Secretary read a letter from the Literary and Debating Society informing him that interfaculty debating was being resumed and that the Arts faculty chosen a team to participate. Following the reading of the letter Don Smith on behalf of the Sophomores issued a challenge to debate any of the years. Davidson on behalf of Arts '27 issued a similar challenge to the fourth year. The meeting also granted the sum of twenty dollars to the Arts football team. Nairn in speaking on the rugby grant and as this year's manager of the Arts rugby team stated that in future it would be advisable that a manager be appointed to look after the finances of the rugby team and that a sum of money be granted to the team at the beginning of the year. Thereby making the task much easier and producing a more efficient and far better football team than Arts has had in the past two years. Bob MacLeod, President of the Society officiated at the meeting.

BISHOP'S COLLEGE DEFEAT SCIENCE

Out of Towners won by Score 3-0

Immediately after the Medicine—Law encounter Science met the squad from Bishop's College School. The team from Bishops had earlier in the year defeated the Junior squad 27-0 but yesterday were forced to the limit to beat the Science aggregation by 3-0.

Good football was the order of the day, with very little loose play. Science showed lack of condition but superior tackling and defensive tactics enabled them to hold at bay the fierce onslaughts of the opposing halves. The boys from Lennoxville, knew the game, but the field was not wide enough for their end runs and indeed many times the ball was carried the width of the field and was not a foot nearer the touch line. However their plunging was excellent indeed 5 times in succession yards were made by the School Boys.

The only scoring was in the second period when McCaw kicked a beautiful place kick from the thirty-five yard line. McCaw and Klein starred for Bishops while Consiglio and Sissons shone for the Scientists.

The game was efficiently handled by McMaster.

BASKETBALL SQUAD SHOW BETTER FORM

Very Successful Practice Held Last Night

Coach Van Wagner put the basketball squad through a very strenuous practice last night which doubtless helped considerably to take out the kinks and stiffness. The squad was divided into four groups and each was given an hour's drilling in shooting and passing from many difficult angles. The work was carried out with a willingness that left the coach well pleased at the end of the workout. After this drill the coach gave the men a short black-board talk describing the different types of defence which were to be tried. With these in view the squad were sent through a snappy scrimmage to try these in actual play. Talking all in consideration it was probably the most successful practice held this season.

The men are showing better condition and some are showing good form. Amongst those showing up well is Katt who started for the seniors last year but unfortunately was forced out of the game through injuries; however, he is showing up better than ever this year. Johnson who played defence on the Intermediate B team last year is doing good work; also Bill James who played Intermediate basketball two years ago is out again and is playing well at the forward position. Ryder and Blinco two newcomers are also shaping up well as is Scott who played Junior basketball last year.

Only two of last year's seniors, Quackenbush and Blumenstein, were at last night's practice and the coach wishes to stress the necessity for everyone to turn out in view of the heavy schedule expected to start soon. Several were missed last night whom the coach would like to see turning out. Any who have heretofore been unable to turn out through other activities will be given a tryout by Coach Van Wagner.

There will be no practice on Monday but practices will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of next week.

THE STUDENT AND THE WORLD COURT

At last it appears that the Students of the United States are awakening to a realization of their duty to the remainder of the World. A meeting of representatives from all the Universities of the East is being held at Princeton on December 12 with the avowed purpose "to crystallize student opinion on the question of the World Court" and to attempt some kind of permanent organization among college students for the study of foreign affairs. Judging by the tone of comment in the student papers this conference meets with the almost unanimous approval of American students, who apparently consider that their has been too long shirking its duty in remaining aloof from all European affairs.

Since the War interest in World politics has not been able to compete with such relatively more important subjects as the Rugby team and the Prom. The contests between Freshmen and Sophomores have appeared in student eyes as of much more importance than the foolish little scraps between the Riffs and the Spaniards, the election of a cheer leader has far outweighed in importance the election of a President in Poland, and the vexed question of the constitution of the new Black Hand Society has dwarfed the less important question of the constitution of Germany.

Whether or not this conference itself accomplishes any concrete result, the fact remains that it is indicative of a revived interest in World problems, and coming as it does, just a few days before the meeting of the Senate on Dec. 17, a decision in favour of American participation is very likely to influence that body to a considerable extent.

Though the sentiment in favour of a World Court has been steadily increasing, several State Legislatures having approved the idea and many local organizations, such as churches, veterans associations, clubs etc. having also endorsed the proposal, nevertheless a long hard fight will be necessary to get in past the Senate. The opposition is well organized and has many men of exceptional fighting and oratorical ability on its side.

THE GAME OF FOOTBALL

By GRANTLAND RICE

Bill Jones had been the shining star upon his college team. His tackling was ferocious and his bucking was a dream. When husky William took the ball beneath his brawny arm. They had two extra men to ring the ambulance alarm.

Bill hit the line and ran the ends like some mad bull amuck. The other team would shiver when they saw him start to buck. And when some rival tackled tried to block his dashing pace. On waking up he'd ask: "Who drove that truck across my face?"

Bill had the speed—Bill had the weight—Bill never bucked in vain. From goal to goal he whizzed along while fragments strewn the plain. And there had been a standing bet, which no one tried to call. That he could make his distance through a ten-foot granite wall.

When he wound his college course each student's heart was sore. They went to think bull-throated Bill would sock the line no more. Not so with William—in his dreams he saw the Field of Fame. Where he would buck to glory in the swirl of Life's big game.

Sweet are the dreams of college life, before our faith is nicked—The world is but a cherry tree that's waiting to be picked; The world is but an open road—until we find, one day, How far away the goal posts are that called us to the play.

So, with the sheepskin tucked beneath his arm in football style, Bill put on steam and dashed into the thickest of the pile; With eyes ablaze he sprinted where the laureled highway led—When Bill woke up his scalp-hung loose and knots adorned his head.

He tried to run the ends of Life, but with rib-crashing loss A rent collector tackled him and threw him for a loss. And when he switched his course again and dashed into the line The massive guard named Failure did a Charleston on his spine.

Bill tried to punt out of the rut but ere he turned the trick Right Tackle Competition scuttled through and blocked the kick. And when he switched his course again in one long, vicious prod, The Fullback Disappointment steered his features in the sod.

Bill was no quitter, so he tried to buck in higher gear, But Left Guard Envy broke it up and stood him on his ear. Whereat he aimed a forward pass, but in two vicious bounds Big Center Greed slipped through a hole and rained him out of bounds.

But one day, when across the Field of Fame the goal seemed dim, The wise old Coach Experience came up and spoke to him. "Old Boy," he said, "the main point now before you win your bout Is keep on bucking—Failure till you've worn that piker out!"

"And, kid, cut out this fancy stuff—go in there, low and hard, Just keep your eye upon the ball and plug on yard, by yard. And, more than all, when you are thrown or tumbled with a crack, Don't sit there whining—hustle up and keep on coming back."

"Keep coming back with all you've got, without an alibi, If Competition trips you up or lands upon your eye, Until at last above the din you hear this sentence spilled: 'We might as well let this bird through before we all get killed!'"

"You'll find the road is long and rough, with soft spots far apart, Where only those can make the grade who have the Uphill Heart. And when they stop you with a thud or halt you with a crack, Lot Courage call the signals as you keep on coming back."

"Keep coming back, and though the world may romp across your spine, Let every game's end find you still upon the battling line; For when the One Great Scorer comes to mark against your name, He writes—not that you won or lost—but how you played the Game."

The Editor

McGill Daily:

Dear Sir:—What's the Campus coming to? Why all the rumour about the Rooters Band? It is true the band did parade on Saturday, advertising a cinema film. Why? Because the band whose main object for a miserable existence is to help our rugby squad along to victory, wishes to go to Toronto. Is there any one on the Campus who will say that the band do not deserve to go to Toronto? There certainly is not! The Students' Council cannot afford to finance the trip. The Athletic Board, for no good apparent reason whatever has refused to permit a tag-day at the Stadium on Saturday, such as was so successfully and willingly done last year for the purpose of helping the team to go to Toronto. The band, therefore, paraded on Saturday to help pay their expenses to Toronto. The work they did was perfectly legal and certainly not humiliating. For not this action of the band but compared to that of the many students who work during the summer to make their university fee?

If those who so severely condemned the band's action would only realize that it is a perfect liberty to disband, I am sure that these critics would not be so free in their censure. Then again, in conclusion Mr. Editor, I wish to ask you why the words "Provisional New Board, and Provisional Editor-in-Chief" appeared in this morning's Daily? Also, why the absence of the manager of the Daily's? Also the absence of the names of the Daily's President and Managing Editor. Thanking you for your valuable space, etc.

REUBEN SPECTOR.

The Editor,

McGill Daily:

Dear Sir:—Many are keenly looking forward to the appearance of the new Literary Publication, formerly known as the Literary Supplement, of the McGill Daily.

As the success of the venture depends largely on its general appeal to those both within and without the University that is to say, the graduates of McGill, and as many of these people are men of combined literary and scientific interests. Might I suggest that some small portion of the new paper be devoted each issue to scientific work of an original character, in progress in the various laboratories.

Two advantages might be derived from such a section. First as already stated the paper might have a broader appeal and thereby an assured financial support, and secondly it would help to keep our graduates aware of the fact that active research is being carried on at McGill. Few are aware of the extent and diversity of the problems under investigation and I should imagine some means of drawing attention to the energy expended along these lines, would be of value both to McGill and to those interested in her welfare.

This is merely a suggestion Mr. Editor and is only claim to "a place in the sun" would be by virtue of its being original work by McGill people, just as are the literary articles which will appear.

Yours truly,
FRANK EMMONS.

The Editor,

McGill Daily:

Dear Sir:—In the notice column of the Daily of the 3rd instant there appeared a notice in connection with the Arts Fresh-Soph Banquet, by which freshmen were given to understand that if they do not intend to attend the banquet, they must pay the half price and that this was compulsory.

Now I, and I believe there are many others, would like to know where in the rules of Corporation or in the constitution of the Students' Council there is anything mentioned to the effect that freshmen must pay the half price. Should there be something, I would be greatly obliged to you or to anyone who will inform me as to where I can find such a reference.

I do not think it right to intimidate freshmen who are unable to pay the half or full price with severe denials as is mentioned in the said notice.

I am
Yours respectfully
A FRESHMAN

The Provisional Editor,

McGill Daily:

Dear Sir:—Recently we have noticed a great deal of correspondence dealing with, and for the most part, criticizing the action of the Rooters' Band last Saturday.

The writers of these letters have without a doubt, the best interests of McGill at heart. But, as their letters appear after, and not before, the parade of the Band, we are sure that they will realize that they can do nothing in the way of prevention.

On the other hand their letters cannot but give the bandmen the idea that the students as a whole are disgusted with them and consider them a disgrace to the University.

Could anyone be expected to turn out two or three times a week to practice, and to play at the games as well, after such talk?

Now, since the bandmen have undertaken to earn their way to Toronto in a way that at least could give them little enjoyment, a number of Undergraduates and Graduates are unmanly enough to disregard all that the band has done, and can do in the future, (if they are not literally criticized to pieces) and to hold them up before the public as a disgrace.

If the students object to what has taken place, then by all means let them, through the proper channels, prevent its happenings again.

Since it has happened this time, in the name of fair play, let this criticism stop!

If it continues the Band MAY turn out and give us a great deal for nothing, as they always have. But, — we could certainly not blame them if they decided that, as their efforts were so unappreciated, and their faults so publicly discussed, they might just as well disorganize.

For the sake of the reputation of our Alma Mater among outsiders, let us in the future make our criticisms to the Students' Council or those directly responsible.

We hope that at today's game the Rooters as a whole will show the Band that they DO appreciate all they have done for McGill.

Although we (the writers) may be divided in our opinions as to whether the Band did right or wrong, we are unanimous in thinking that the students should now give it their support.

Sincerely yours,
Three Cheers for the Band!

Dear Monsieur McGill Daily:

I have attend my first Muck Parliament, and have enjoy ze sensation tres bien, but I go out feeling very much gassed by ze words and ze tobacco smoke which issue from mouths of ze speakers. I go principally to see ze cheval noir — dark horse, but I hear that he die outside ze Union at ze cabstand, some days ago.

First ze speech of ze throne was read, and I see with great joy that ze Parliament will make a law for free beer in ze Stadium. I shout "beer is ver" nice but why not make it ze beautiful champagne Francaise." But I am hoot by ze impolite gentlemen which sit on ze opposite side.

Monsieur Forsnooth say that he will prevent Canadians from desire to go to ze States, and give them one revus every fortnight. Ze gentlemen around him say "hear hear". But we all shout "hoot hoot", and I say "Yes, you cannot not think of anything else but revues and cabarets." And we give one more hoot.

Monsieur Lloyd get up and tell Monsieur Spectorator that he wear short pants in 1895. By gar, I think he wore wings then — he is not older than moi-meme, and I am born in 1898.

Monsieur Bel, which come from Saskatchewan, say if we are protect we are decay, and Monsieur McCloud second him. And we yell, but ze crazy usses on ze other side make noise like steamboat whistle.

Monsieur McLaffrey speak about ze ladies, and I say, "What you want to speak about the ladies for?" And all ze men on my own side say I am disloyal — so I go over and sit with ze opposition.

Then we all clap when Monsieur Gordon Balin get up to speak. He say ze National Railway is like cobweb, and we must not be like spiders and spin more thread.

Monsieur Expectator get up to reply, and we make hoot. He say he will appoint one commission to make tariff. And then he wind up by telling us we are ignorant and negligee. Then we make roar, and we also make one vote. And ze gentleman on whose side I was sitting win ze combat, and my companion lift me up in his arms and kiss me. I am elate! I am now true McGill man.

I'm just one regulair fellow....

Step right up and call me Buckette!

has been said that the mechanism of plant support may be compared to a work of structural engineering. Yet no plant can be built of absolutely solid members; a tree, for instance, has to provide storage and storage passages, suitable support and a conducting system, all within such a narrow diameter of plant.

The position and form of the mechanical tissue depends in the kind of plant, the environment it is in and on related things. In maize stems, the mechanical tissue is at the periphery, which is firm enough to burrow into sandy soil. Bamboo trees are hollow and have thick outer peripheries. Hard transverse septae spread out through the hollow cylinder to prevent buckling.

The mechanical properties of leaves were rapidly reviewed. The blade is compacted by its epidermis thus holding together the soft tissues in which the vascular strands run. A transverse section should a vascular stand with strips of hard resistant tissue above and below it. Another slide showed gussets at the indentation of the leaf.

In roots the mechanical tissue is collected usually as a core at the centre. The external peripheral tissues will depend upon the soil into which it dips. Mechanical tissues vary with mechanical demands. An interesting fact is that mechanical tissues can actually be taken out whole from the plant and tested for stretching stress and compared with metal wires treated similarly. It is found that the limit of elasticity is alike for both plant and metal wires. The elongation limit is greater in plant than in metal, while at the same time plant wires are capable of recovery.

Prof Bower made the interesting statement that the tones of violins depended string-like construction on of the wood grain. The wood became more adaptable to the musical sounds produced by bow and vibrating strings; so that the older violins were even richer and more beautiful in tone.

The discourse was well liked and applauded, and Professors Carle M. Derick and A. S. Eve, who moved and seconded a vote of thanks, expressed the esteem and satisfaction of every one present.

SENIORS TO BE IN TWO BATTLES OVER WEEK-END

LAWYERS TRIUMPH OVER MEDICALS

Teams Now Tied for First Place

The Medical Interfaculty Rugby team went down to defeat yesterday afternoon at the hands of the Law squad, by a score 13-12. But they went down fighting. From the time of the kick off, it was evident that the game would be a close one, however towards the end of the first period, Vneberg of Medicine went heroes for a touch which was not converted.

In the second period the crowd was given the thrill of the game, when O'Donnell picked up a loose ball, and scored Law's first touch. Medicine scored 1 point in this quarter, coming from the boot of Chisolm.

Excellent running featured the second half, and the ball was carried up and down the gridiron until Law came into

Gridiron Gus says:—

The Seniors have a heavy enough programme for the week-end; to-day they meet the Varsity squad in a regular Intercollegiate fixture and on Monday play M. A. A. in an exhibition game for the Championship of Montreal. Past events have shown that they are up against some pretty stiff opposition in both games. The game to-day, of course is the all-important one, but a win on Monday is also naturally highly desirable. The stiffer battle is expected to-day when they line up against the Blue and White team. Notwithstanding the fact that Varsity were completely out-classed by Queen's on their own grounds, the fact remains that everyone expects a grim fight in to-day's encounter. Varsity seem to have lost Saturday's game more by poor playing on their part than anything else and there is a chance that in to-day's game they will be going great guns. It they are at the top of their form there is no doubt that it will be a game worth watching and it's a safe bet that the spectators won't start walking out in the third or fourth period. They'll stay to see the finish of the fight because Varsity can always be depended on to fight to the last whistle.

The Varsity line-up is pretty much the same as the squad that faced Queen's last Saturday. Trimble Snyder and McFayden will do duty in the backfield but it is a matter of conjecture who will be sent back to take kicks and such. Snyder may be left up on the second defense to stop the McGill line plungers and in this case McFayden or Trimble will run after the ball when it is nearest to either of them. Stollery and King, the line-plunging middles will do the ball carrying with Snyder and can be counted on to make a good impression. Weber, whom the Varsity claims is better than Lewis will be at snap. Lewis has already performed here and to-day the Montreal fans will be able to estimate their respective worth. The Queen's Journal maintains that Lewis is superior. The "Daily" leaves it to the fans.

Hanna and Cameron will be on the receiving end of the kicking to-day while St. Germain will do the sending. Ralph has shown wonderful improvement both in control and in distance and Snyder is not likely to gain many yards on punting duels. Gordon and Philpott will be down under the kicks to see that no distance will be lost on the kicks. Sullivan has been moved down the line to middle and Spears moves in towards centre occupying the position of inside. Spears will play middles or offensive work and Sully will take his job over when Varsity has the ball. Spears can be counted on to contribute some line crashing if he attempts to justify his cognomen of "The Bruiser" are continued. Coderer Wright who by general agreement and all kinds of good football has won a place on the senior team will do the duties at snap so that after the game there may be a three-cornered controversy as to who is the best snap in Intercollegiate football.

Thanksgiving Day will see the M. A. A. fighting to retain the City Championship won last year. Although McGill beat the Ottawa squad who are leading the B. G. Four there is nothing to guarantee that they will walk over M. A. A. It is quite true that that same Ottawa squad administered a crushing defeat to the Winged Wheelers early in the season but that doesn't mean that the Peel Street Squad are easy meat. A lot of water has run under Victoria Bridge in the meantime and Montreal have shown that they are still to be reckoned with by their defeat of the strong Argos squad last Saturday.

Howsoever, if McGill can turn the tables on their opponents in both fixtures, Monday will be a great day for joy and thanksgiving.

punting distance, and Price sent the ball over the bar for three points.

In the fourth quarter, Price of Law after figuring in several spectacular plays, scored a touch, however Medicine's line held tightly throughout this period, and it was more good luck than good generalship, that gave Law the touch. Then the tide turned and Medicine scored a touch, which was converted. The game ended soon, amidst much excitement, with Medicine in close striking distance.

THE MONTHLY LETTER of The Royal Bank Of Canada

Canadian Business Conditions

Not since the beginning of the economic readjustment period have fundamental conditions been more favorable to a healthy expansion of industry and trade. There are already signs of improvement in the business situation, and while for the most part they relate to seasonal conditions, some of the changes are indicative of the gradual restoration of balanced relations which are so necessary to general prosperity. The maladjustment between industry and agriculture has during the past twelve months been mitigated if not entirely relieved, and the highly satisfactory crop returns now indicate that the purchasing power of the farming community will be greater than for the past five years and more widely distributed. The yield for the three Prairie Provinces as estimated by the Northwestern Grain Dealers Association in their mid-October report, compared with the final estimates of 1924, are as follows:

	1925	1924
Wheat	400,385,000	335,004,000
Oats	392,553,000	223,325,000
Barley	65,355,000	70,650,000
Rye	9,220,000	11,128,000
Flax	6,395,000	9,577,000

Livestock markets showed a very encouraging tone during the month. Supplies were heavy, but export demand from Great Britain and the United States was strong. Hogs are bringing high prices, and this is likely to be the case for some time to come owing to short supplies.

The major industries of the country are generally more active. The iron and steel mills are again operating closer to capacity. More than sixty thousand tons of rail business has been placed, and the demand from automobile and agricultural implement companies has been in larger volume. The important textile industry which in 1924 had one of the worst years of its history, is feeling the stimulus of improved conditions, and the reduction in primary costs gives the trade better prospects for earnings. In woolen goods the situation is slightly better, and in silks, including rayon, relative prosperity prevails. The boot and shoe industry has been unsatisfactory for some time, but there is a general report of better business, and leather prices are firmer.

Mineral production records for Canada show a steady growth. Production of metals and non-metals reached a total value of $80,247,698 as compared with $84,307,385 in the first half of 1924. The output of gold for the six months was $14,506,219 as against $11,810,000, and silver 5,601,853 oz. as compared with 5,008,256 oz. for the corresponding period of the previous year. In British Columbia the production of non-ferrous metals, especially lead and zinc, shows a large increase, and at present market prices the total output for the first eight months of the year is estimated at $41,000,000 or only $7,500,000 short of the total value for the whole of 1924. The coal mining industry after being completely disorganized by protracted strikes, is making rapid recovery and a better feeling is in evidence. Export trade in lumber is quiet. The Maritime Provinces find it difficult to obtain satisfactory business against European competition. The Australian market appears to be satisfied, and the demand from Japan has fallen off. There is a steady increase, however, in shipments from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic Ports of the United States, and domestic demand is expected to improve with western conditions. In the pulp and paper industry, production and shipments are ahead of last year. The production of newsprint for the eight months ended the 31st August is 988,764 tons as compared with 907,993 tons in 1924.

The value of building permits and contracts entered upon for construction work in Western Canada for the first nine months of the year show an increase of $3,583,000 over the figures of a year ago, although the figures for the Dominion for the same period are slightly lowered.

The usual statistics which reflect the current volume of business indicate a tendency to expansion. Carloadings and bank debits throughout the past two months have been well above the corresponding figures of last year. The agricultural situation is contributing in no small degree to larger and better balanced buying power. Wholesalers generally report increased turnover, although in all lines buying is cautious and closely confined to immediate needs.

Commercial failures for the third quarter of 1925 show a distinct improvement both in number and extent of liabilities. Our foreign trade continues to show a growth that is particularly noteworthy. During September, exports amounted to $108,407,911—a considerable increase over $89,960,729 for the corresponding month last year. This represents a record total for this month since 1920. For the six months of the fiscal year ended September, total exports were $571,315,340 against $432,091,954 for the same period last year. The comfortable position of the money market, the small fluctuations in commodity prices, light stocks of merchandise, the increased purchasing power based on good crops and high state of employment are factors which collectively inspire greater confidence in the business situation.

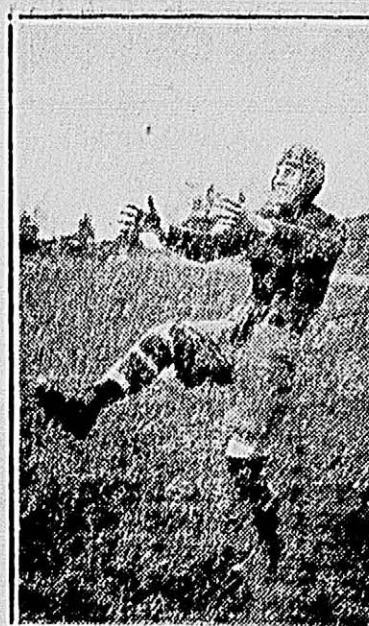

PIGSKIN COMMON

(Harvard Crimson)

In its current issue, the New Republic turns from the crying evils of Wall Street and the White House, and discusses with the same merry gusto the crying evils of the football field. In a long editorial captioned "Pigskin Preferred," the editors discuss with mock seriousness the increasing emphasis which is being placed on football in general, and Harvard football in particular, ending with the solemn proposal that college football teams be placed on a truly business-like basis by the formation of stock companies, organized to manipulate the interests of college football teams in such a way as will best insure profitable dividends to the alumni stockholders, with perhaps an occasional bonus to the college which makes all this exploitation possible.

The editors of the New Republic choose to be satirical. But the Editors of the Crimson find it possible to take from their satire a serious suggestion for the solutions of the problems of college football. Complaints against the over-emphasis upon college football have been increasing in volume during the past few years, and bid fair to increase as long as interest in football continues to cast into eclipse all other legitimate interests of college. Relatively small at the same time are the complaints against over-emphasis upon college baseball, because

"SPUDS" MURPHY

Who starts to-day as flying wing, though you would never guess it from the pose.

Amateur baseball has been kept in proper relation to the other aspects of college life by the dwarfing presence of professional baseball. During the fall season, no such saving counter-attraction has existed. But at last professional football teams have begun to appear. And their growth should be encouraged rather than frowned upon. For only when football teams legitimately professional come to occupy the same space in the public prints and the same interest in the public mind as is now held by professional baseball, will the college football teams of the country be able to return to the comparative privacy of friendly, amateur competition which the college baseball enjoys.

If the editors of the New Republic are interested in remedying a situation admittedly evil, rather than, as we suspect, in merely talking about it, they will float their bond issues and subscribe their dollars for the exploitation of a professional, and not a college, football team.

Governor Al Smith, of New York, one day appeared before the assembled convicts at Sing Sing to make a speech. Forgetting his audience, he began in the usual manner: "Fellow citizens—" A murmur of laughter sounded through the room. The governor became fussed. "Fellow convicts," he changed. Louder laughter. "Oh, you know what I mean," he stammered. "I mean I'm glad to see so many of you here." They led him out into the air.
